Join us for lunch on May 23rd and find out about the AABM. We will be electing the 2014 Board Members and are looking for Nominees for the Steering, Education & Regulatory, Communications, and Membership Committees.

AABM MISSION: Continue to establish a cooperative network of non-profit academic based biologics manufacturers as a national resource to bring together clinical investigators with manufacturing capacity and expertise, develop and share facility operations expertise amongst members, provide quality, manufacturing, and regulatory training opportunities, and hold annual meetings.

PROMOTES:

- Sharing ideas, knowledge, and expertise with peers
- Connecting clinical investigators with manufacturing capacity
- Opportunities for collaboration and partnerships
- Discussions on manufacturing, QA, and QC challenges
- Resource for facility design and operation procedures
- Updates on current trends and news in cGMP manufacturing
- Source for training and job opportunities
- Access to FDA links on regulatory guidance
- Potential future for symposia and journal development
